Scotland and Northern Ireland Research

The population of Scotland and Northern Ireland today is less than 7 million combined. Yet, the number of people worldwide with an ancestry from those areas is estimated between 70-90 million. Chances are you or someone's genealogy that you are working on has roots from there.

This presentation will provide information to assist in Scottish genealogy research.

Originally from the Philadelphia area, Mark McLaren graduated from the University of Colorado, Boulder with a B.S. degree in Business. He is recently retired from a 37 year career in the Medical Supply Distribution business where he held a number of executive level positions.

He is currently a member of the National Genealogical Society, California Genealogical Society (CGS), and the San Ramon Valley Genealogical Society (SRVGS). In SRVGS he is a board member and treasurer. He is also a Fellow in the Society of Scottish Antiquities.

He is a member of several Scottish Clan societies; Clan MacLaren Society of North America, Clan Douglas Society of North America, and Clan Ross America. In Clan MacLaren, he served as Treasurer for 14 years and currently as its President.
