A Special Program on Genealogical Research

Richard will talk about his research into the ghost town of Midway on the eastern edge of Alameda County. His interest started with the vandalized cemetery and led to knowing more about the town that once was and the people who lived there. This was a challenging project with little published work and misspelling of the names of some of the main players.

Richard Finn is a long time genealogist and local historian. He is president of the San Ramon Valley Genealogical Society and past president of L-AGS.
