Cemeteries Are Not a Dead Subject

A look at websites will teach you the Do's and Don't's of the care of headstones, symbolism, tricks to reading well worn headstones, and sites where you might find your family. Most list the names and dates, but there is so much more!

Virginia Kysh has been studying and doing research on her family since 1968 BC (before computers). She has done it the old fashioned way with typewriters and writing letters via snail mail. Currently, she also uses computers. Virginia has been teaching genealogy classes for more than 20 years at the Antioch Family History Center. She is currently working once a week at the Antioch Family History Center/FamilySearch Center. Virginia served two years on the Sacramento German Genealogical Society as the Special Event Director. She attends every conference she can: Roots Tech, UGA Institute, Southern California Genealogical Society Jamboree, Ancestry Day in San Francisco, FGS and NGS when West of the Mississippi.
