Exploring the L-AGS Website

Over the years a succession of L-AGS webmasters have developed and improved the L-AGS website (www.L-AGS.org) to what it is today. Patrick will present an interactive tour of the varied features of the website. A few of the contents which will be reviewed are: Membership Application, Useful Genealogy Internet Links, Local Public Libraries and other Facilities with Genealogical Holdings, Genealogy Data Records for Eastern Alameda County, California, Member's Publications etc.

Patrick's interest in Genealogy dates back over 50 years to his early days when he did not even know that hobbyists around the world had already developed standard forms for Family Group Sheets, Pedigree and Ahnentafel charts. Over the intervening years, he has progressed from maintaining his records on columnar pads with a number 2 pencil and pink pearl eraser through a multitude of genealogy computer data bases. He currently uses The Master Genealogist.

Patrick earned his B.S. in Business Administration at Canisius College in Buffalo. He served 2 1/2 years in military service at Fort Bliss, Texas. Patrick then completed his MBA at Temple University in Philadelphia. Patrick retired in 2005 after 40 years in postal managerial positions on both coasts. As his three children and five grandchildren live in Maryland and Ohio, he often travels to those east coast locales.
