NEW BEGINNINGS

Dear Readers: This Fall issue is the beginning of the seventh year for the publication of THE ROOTS TRACER. We hope to print information sent to us by the members of our Society as well as interesting tidbits gleaned from the many publications sent to us by other organizations. Queries are always welcome and will be printed as space permits. We look forward to the "Meet the Members" profiles--these are top priority articles for us. Ancestor charts, too, are most welcome. In this issue we have included part one (of three parts) of the chart prepared by Lucille WHITE. Lucille has done a tremendous job of research which should be an inspiration to us all. We look forward to hearing from all of you with articles relating to genealogy, computer info, bible records---what have you???

Entitled "THE ORDINATION OF Rev. Thomas CARTER of WOBURN, MASSACHUSETTES", by the artist Alfred JOHNSON, after the fact.

It hangs in the Woburn Public Library. Thomas CARTER (James⁸, Gregorie⁹, Thomas¹⁶) was born in 1608 in Hinderclay, county Suffolk, England. He attended grammar school at Bury St. Edmund's, then went on to Cambridge where he obtained an M.A. in 1633. He emigrated to New England in 1637 and his ordination took place 2 Nov. 1642. Thomas CARTER was the 7th gr-grandfather of Dixie CARTER NEWBURY.

Livermore-Amador Genealogical Society

Letter from the President

The coming year will bring many hours of frustrating investigations into the family origins of many of you. But along with those frustrations are moments of intense satisfaction in bringing to light many interesting facts about your ancestors.

I wish one and all of you much success in the coming months. We in the society have much to do for the coming year and I'm hoping all of you, when asked, will gladly come forth to help me and the other officers of the society to make a very successful year.

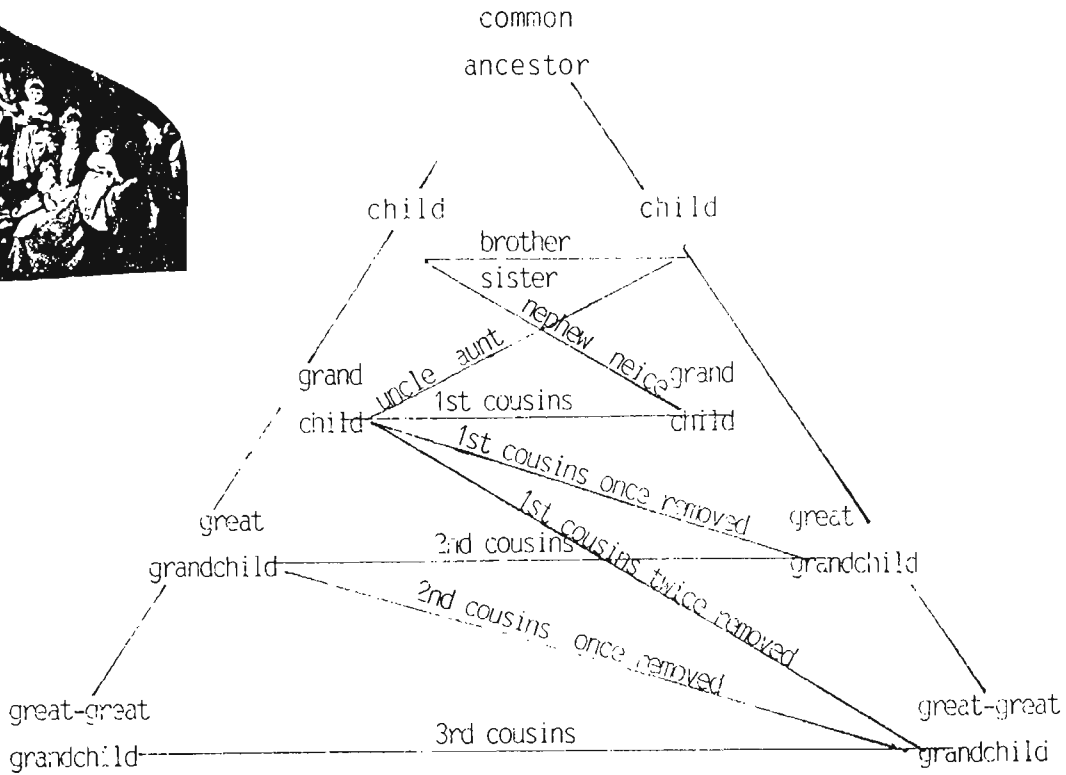

The Society is celebrating its tenth anniversary. A remarkable fact for such a small group who started s organization. We have our own genealogical library located in the history center in Livermore. Our Roots Tracer is a quarterly that has been published every quarter for many years and our new editor Dixie Newburg will be continuing the tradition.

Many thanks go to the many people who were involved in the past year with the Livermore Cultural Arts Show in October, the Pleasanton Heritage Fair in September, the Livermore Fitness Run in April. We will continue to display the heritage and culture of our ancestors and those of the surrounding area, the Livermore and Amador Valleys.

CHART OF RELATIONSHIPS THROUGH A COMMON ANCESTOR

from the CHEMUNG HISTORICAL JOURNAL

Elmira's (NY) First Telegraph Line made national headlines because of a local "Letter to the Editor".

Built along Baldwin Street the line passed the home of a maiden lady just north of Church Street. She objected unsuccessfully to the building of the line. A few weeks after its completion, she wrote a letter to the Editor. The line as she had predicted was foolish and useless--she had sat on her front porch every day since its building, observed it very closely, and had so far never seen a single message pass over the line.

Did you know there are 13 widows of Civil War vets? Their average age, 85. They all married elderly veterans, men who were in their 70s and older. That was in the 1920s when women were in their teens or early 20s. There are still 12 widows of vets from Indian Wars--1817-1898, and 4500 widows of Spanish-American War veterans--1898-1902. Kiplinger Washington Letter.

An Act of Congress in 1796 made provisions for the SEAMAN'S PROTECTION CERTIFICATES which were issued to seaman, upon proof of citizenship, as an attempt to protect them from impressment by Great Britain and other countries. These certificates have much genealogical value because they give a description of the applicant, i.e., birthplace, age, height, complexion, hair-color, and the presence of any scars. These applications were filed in Washington, D.C. and, in the 1930s, indexed by the W.P.A.. If you are looking for someone that may have been written about in the county histories of California during the late 1800s you might try AN INDEX TO THE BIOGRAPHIES IN THE 19th CENTURY CALIFORNIA COUNTY HISTORIES which is Volume 7 in the Gale Genealogy and Local History Series by J. Carlyle Parker. This is in the Pleasant Hill, California library and is available on inter-library loan. The National Genealogical Society, 1921 Sunderland Place, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20035 will send a complete list of catalogued BIBLE RECORDS from their files for a fee of $3.00.

WHY THEY SIGNED WITH AN "X"++++++During the Middle Ages, when few people were able to write, many documents were signed with an "x". Signers kissed the letter to affirm their sincerity in the same way they kissed the Bible when taking an oath. The letter "X" was the sign of St. Andrew and implied a sacred promise to fulfill one's obligation. Tuolumne Gen. Soc.

The LAGS Library has received a great number of new books recently, mostly from our 1987 book purchases budget, but also partly from donations. One of the books reviewed ("The Compendium of Historical Sources") is not new, but it is an important acquisition that has never been reviewed in this column.

Compendium of Historical Sources: The How and Where of American Genealogy. 1983. By Ronald A. Bremer. Progenitor Genealogical Society, Inc., P.O. Box 16422, Salt Lake City, Utah 84116. Hard cover, 8 1/2 x 11 inches, 1004 pages, indexed, illustrated. $100.00.

This is the book bought last year with special donations from individual members of LAGS. Some of those who donated had attended a seminar given by Mr. Bremer and had come home with great enthusiasm for him and his book. Although the book is not new in our Library, it has not yet been reviewed in The Roots Tracer. It deserves to be brought to the attention of our members.

This is one of those books that contain "All you ever wanted to know about sources for genealogy, and more." It is a combination gazetteer, textbook, dictionary, encyclopedia, atlas, pep talk and almanac. There are lists of everything — all townships in the U.S., insurance companies, museums, historical societies, railroads, pre-1900 colleges and universities, Turner Vereins, religious denominations — you could browse for a week and not find them all. Do you want to be refreshed on how to write Roman numerals? Look on page 474. Do you want to know how to write a letter in Polish, asking for the name of a student you can hire to do proxy research? See page 14.

This book is valuable and great fun to read, but it comes out second in comparison with "The Source, A Guidebook of American Genealogy," which the LAGS Library also owns. Bremer's book is somewhat casually organized (pages 10 and 11 are a reprint of a handout on the U.S. National Mapping Program, unrelated to anything on page 9 or page 11), poorly proofread (page 13 is a duplicate of page 12, and what was supposed to be on page 13 is missing), and contains some dubious advice (on page 37, Mr. Bremer recommends that you place magazine "quiries" with a letter worded as follows: "Would you please place the following query in your fine magazine and bill me for same?").

"The Source," on the other hand, is tougher sledding, but uniformly well organized, authoritative, and thorough. Fortunately, LAGS members can consult both when researching a subject.

Passenger Arrivals at the Port of Philadelphia, 1800-1819. The Philadelphia "Baggage Lists." 1986. General Editor: Michael H. Tepper. Transcribed by Elizabeth P. Bentley. Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202. Hard cover, 6 x 9 inches, 913 + xv pp, indexed for persons and ships, no illustrations. $45.00.

Federal records of immigration did not begin until 1820. Before that there were scattered attempts to document certain groups of new arrivals, such as the Germans entering Pennsylvania, but nothing comprehensive or continuous was done.

By a fluke of government record-keeping, genealogists now have available a windfall of substitute data—40,000 names of passengers arriving at Philadelphia between 1800 and 1819, along with the name of the ship, port of embarkation, date of arrival, and sometimes other information, such as birthplace and occupation.

The fluke was that the lists derive not from an interest in the incoming passengers themselves so much as from an interest in their baggage — a law of 1799 required ship captains to make lists of passengers with duty-free baggage. The law was supposed to apply to all ports and to all incoming individuals, but it seems that all ports except Philadelphia ignored the law, and even there, only cargo ships carrying passengers as a sideline submitted the required forms.

Some of my German ancestors emigrated to Pennsylvania with the Harmonists in the early 1800s. I failed to find their names in the Baggage Lists, because they may have landed at Baltimore, but I did find George Rapp, the leader of the Harmonists, arriving at Philadelphia on board the Canton on October 7, 1803. He and two others, also listed, came on a scouting mission to buy land for his colonists, 339 of whom followed the next year.

Even though 40,000 people over twenty years means only 2000 per year, and that is a small fraction of the annual number of new arrivals in the new country at that time, it is still a bonanza of names to be added to our data base.

German Immigrants. Lists of Passengers Bound from Bremen to New York, 1847-1862. By Gary J. Zimmerman and Marion Wolfert. 2 volumes. Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202. Cloth cover, 6 x 9 inches, 175 + xxv pages (1847-1854), 167 + xxi pages (1855-1862), self-indexed, no illustrations. $20.00/vol.

The Hamburg passenger lists are famous among genealogists for providing the only clue, in some cases, to the home district of a departing immigrant. Without knowing that district, there is no hope of extending a genealogy to pre-immigration times.

It is a tragedy, then, that similar records from the port of Bremen — three times as many as those from Hamburg — have all been lost. The authors say, "Owing to lack of space, the lists from 1832 to 1872 were destroyed in 1874. Thereafter the lists were shredded every two years." Shades of Ollie! In 1907 the German authorities started keeping the records permanently, but even those were destroyed in an Allied bombing raid on October 6, 1944.

These two volumes are a partial reconstruction of the Bremen passenger lists, based on the U.S. National Archives file, Passenger Lists of Vessels Arriving at New York. From the New York lists, the authors have selected the names of persons coming from Bremen, and from these, have selected only those for whom a specific place of origin in Germany is given. Unfortunately, 79% of the emigrants gave only "Germany" as the place of origin, and so their names were deleted as being of no value for these indexes.

We can attest to the value of the Hamburg passenger lists — they were the key to solving a major puzzle in Harriet's family history. From them, we learned that Great Uncle Niels Peter Nielsen went from Denmark, via Hamburg, to Tasmania, and that led to our being able to locate and reunite with long-lost relatives Down Under. In the reconstructed Bremen lists, we believe we may have found a record of the immigrant ancestor, and his home village, in our son-in-law's family. It remains to be verified that we have the right one. We hope others in LAGS will search these lists, and have similar promise of success.

Rhode Island Freeman, 1747—1755: A Census of Registered Voters. 1977, reprinted 1982. Compiled by Bruce C. MacGunnigle. Published by Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202. Paper cover, 6x9 inches, 49 pages, self-indexed, one map. $5.00.

Mr. MacGunnigle presents here the indexed names and residences of 4199 freemen, or "free white adult male property-owners" of colonial Rhode Island. Others have produced similar lists for this era in Rhode Island, but they have left gaps and have not indexed the information. The new lists supply missing information for the crucial time period when Revolutionary War leaders were just becoming freemen.

A 7-page introduction gives an excellent history of the laws governing admission to freeman status in Rhode Island. The author summarizes by stating, "As the subject of freemen can be a very confusing one, it is hoped that this Introduction will help others understand who the freemen were and why knowing about them is important, and it is also hoped that this volume will facilitate genealogical research in Rhode Island."

Census of the Inhabitants of the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations - 1774. Reprint of 1858 first edition. Catalogue B (Stemmons), P.O.Box 612, West Jordan, UT 84084-0612. Paper cover, 8 1/2 x 11 inches, 242 pages. $3.30.

John R. Bartlett, Secretary of State of Rhode Island in 1858, arranged for the printing and publication of the 1774 census of his state, which in 1774 was still a colony. This reprint, in microscopic print, simply reproduces the 1858 publication, with nothing added. The 242 original 1858 pages are demagnified and crammed six to a page in the 41 quarto pages of this edition. They are readable with a magnifying glass, so nothing is lost, and economy is gained.

Each of the 29 towns (=townships) of Rhode Island has a separate census. Heads of families in each town are listed alphabetically by surname. Within a family, the number of souls in each of six categories is listed: male whites above and below age 16; female whites above and below age 16; Indians; Blacks. About 10,000 heads of families are named, and the total population was 59,707. Except for the head of the family, no names are given, as remained the custom in U.S. censuses until 1850.

American Naturalization Processes and Procedures 1790-1985. 1985. By John J. Newman. Indiana Historical Society, 315 West Ohio St., Indianapolis, Indiana 46202. Paper cover, 8 1/2 x 11 inches, 42 pages., not indexed, illustrated. $5.50.

Finding naturalization papers can be a frustrating job. Since our country was founded, the naturalization laws, the terminology, the jurisdictions and the procedures have changed repeatedly. Sometimes the local courts did not follow the law and very frequently the immigrants started the lengthy naturalization process but never finished. A Justice Department investigator said in 1903, "I find the naturalization records in many cases in a chaotic condition, many lost and destroyed, and some sold for old paper. ... In numerous cases I find aliens naturalized under initials instead of Christian names, surnames misspelled or changed entirely, and names of witnesses inserted in place of the alien naturalized." Even if everything was done by the book and the records were carefully preserved, the researcher still has to locate the records, because where the alien could go to apply for citizenship varied from time to time and from state to state.

Mr. Newman's book is an encyclopedia of information about naturalization. It is a scholarly treatise, not a cookbook and not easy to read. But it is comprehensive. I doubt that there is any angle to the law he has not covered. There are 14 illustrations of the various bureaucratic forms in use over the years.

I have an anecdote that is relevant. (They say that the trouble with people when they get older is that everything always reminds them of something else.) When I was a teenager in Mankato, Minnesota, the father of one of my best friends always walked wherever he went around town. He was a prominent man, and they owned a car, but when they went any distance, his wife drove. I always assumed he walked for his health, and I don't remember what I thought about his not driving on longer trips. When

I had a reunion this year with my friend, he told me that he and his mother did not learn until 1967, 20 years after his father died, that his father was a Swedish alien, never naturalized. He voted regularly, which was illegal, and apparently was afraid to get a driver's license for fear he would be caught and deported. The story came to light when his widow applied for a passport.

How to Locate (Almost) Anyone. 1986. By Richard Naumann. P.I. Publications, 191 Harder Road, Suite 122, Hayward, CA 94544. Paper cover, 4 x 8 1/2 inches, 39 pages, no index, no illustrations. $9.95. Donated to the LAGS Library by George and Harriet Anderson.

One of the fascinations about genealogy is that it sometimes resembles Sherlock Holmes work. Here is a book by a Sherlock Holmes type, telling us how he would solve some typical genealogy puzzles.

The author is a private eye in Hayward, California. Although his "locates" are typically on living persons, some of his techniques would apply to the departed, if public records about the person exist, which they almost invariably do.

This is a handy book, narrow enough to fit in a purse or a pocket. I like the concluding paragraph: "Just as an exercise, I suggest that you conduct an investigation on yourself. Go to the county courthouse and JUST SEE how much information you can develop. Don't forget superior and municipal courts, voter's registration, county recorder, assessor, etc. This will be fun for you, and will be great for purposes of familiarizing you with the courts, county records and their research procedures."

Index to Roster of California Pioneers. 1985. By Native Daughters of the Golden West, 555 Baker Street, San Francisco, California 94117. Paper cover, 8 1/2 x 11 inches, 156 + vii pages, self-indexed, illustrated. $10 to members of NDGW, $30 to non-members. Donated to the LAGS Library by NDGW.

Anyone who entered, or was born in, California in 1869 or before can be recognized as a California Pioneer by the Native Daughters of the Golden West. The society, with the help of the California State Library, has been working on the registration of all known pioneers for almost 80 years. This, the latest index to the roster, contains 32,211 entries — an index to a massive data base sure to be valuable to any historian or genealogist with an interest in Early California. Each index entry is keyed to the volume and page number of the full file.

There are two illustrations: a Pioneer registration form, and a copy of the full file entry form. Anyone with information on an unregistered pioneer is urged to submit an application for registration.

A sample from one of the pages of the index shows some entries of local interest.

A Genealogist's Bibliography. 1985. By Cecil R. Humphery-Smith. Genealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202. Hard cover, 6 x 9 inches, 128 pages., self-indexed, no illustrations. $17.50.

The compiler of this book is President of the International Commission on the Bibliography of Genealogy and Heraldry, a position which seems adequate to qualify him as an authority on the subject of his book.

Nothing in the title or the accompanying information reveals it, but the bibliography is totally concerned with the British Isles. Entries are grouped by counties (shires), which are listed alphabetically, followed by Ireland, Scotland and Wales. Within each county, the sources cited are grouped by subject. For example, under Cambridgeshire, the subject headings are Record Repositories and Libraries, Episcopal Registers and Registers of Clergy, Feet of Fines, Heraldry, etc, 12 subjects in all, with at most four titles in any subject.

Following the listing of sources by county is a glossary of those weird terms used in English law — terms such as "curtesy, courtesy: the fee tail of a wife's property after her death or the life interest of her husband in her fee simple"; and "trailbastion: sessions held by justices throughout the country." There are about 400 of such powdered-wig words that I hope I never have to learn — I haven't even learned the American versions yet.

Finally there is an general bibliography of over 400 useful books, journals and manuscript collections.

Quaker Genealogies: A Selected List of Books. 1985. By Willard Heiss and Thomas D. Hamn. New England Historic Genealogical Society, 101 Newbury St., Boston, MA 02116. Soft cover, 6 x 9 inches, 67 + v pages, indexed, no illustrations. $4.95.

In 1974 Mr. Heiss published a preliminary list of Quaker genealogies. This edition nearly doubles — to 910 — the number of titles listed. Of these, 897 are nominally one-family books, indexed by the surname mentioned in the title. Thirteen are collected genealogies. In addition, 598 surnames documented in the books but not mentioned in the titles are cross-indexed to the books.

A brief introduction gives guidance for locating some of the rare titles included in this list.

Early Records of the Le Sueur River Church of Waseca and Steele Counties, Minnesota. 1987. Transcribed and indexed by George W. Anderson Jr., 635 Oak Circle, Pleasanton, CA 94566. Soft cover, 8 1/2 x 11 inches, 56 +v pages, surname and given name indexes, illustrated. Donated to the LAGS Library by the author.

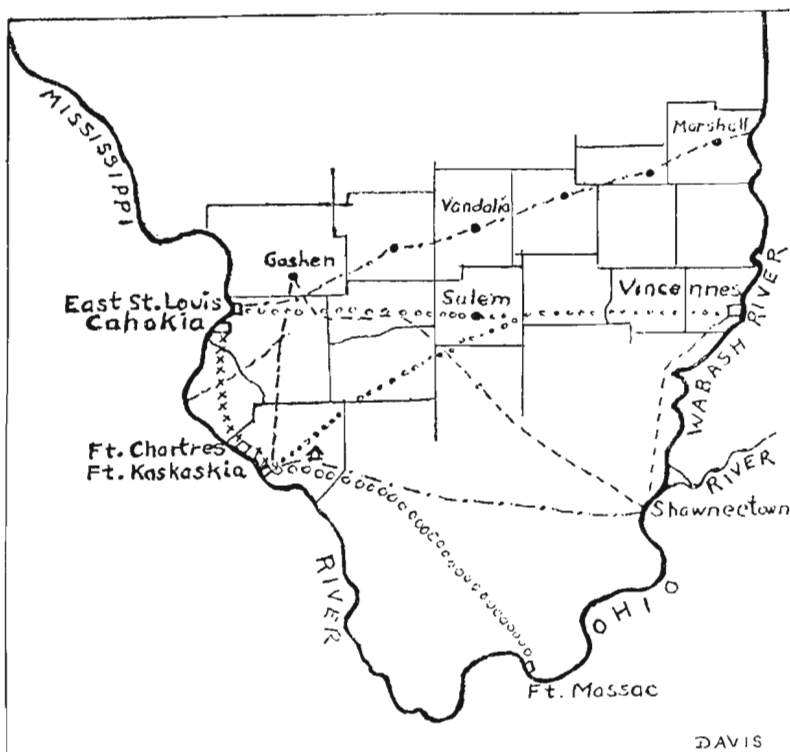

The first settlers near the headwaters of the Le Sueur River in southern Minnesota were immigrants from the Sandsvør region of Buskerud County, Norway. Among them were the ancestors of my wife, Harriet Martinson Anderson. In the process of doing our research on these families, we wrote to the archives of the American Lutheran Church in Dubuque, Iowa, and obtained the microfilm for the records of the Le Sueur River Lutheran Church which these immigrants founded in 1861. As I transcribed and translated what we needed from the film, I realized that it would be useful to others to publish an indexed version of the earliest church book, covering 1863—1877, with commentary in English. I added an indexed list of 1333 confirmands for 1866-1961, based on an unindexed list that had been published previously. Hoping to start a trend, I also developed an index to given names — with a female, especially, we might know her given name and her married name, but not her maiden name, so we could not easily find her in the confirmation lists. It was also peculiar to Scandinavian families in those days that you could never be sure what surname would be used: Anthoni Sørensen Kongsgård had a wife who went by Anne Tovsdatter; later he dropped the Kongsgård, went by Sorensen or Sorenson, then changed that to Sampson, sometimes spelled Sempsen or Samson.

This book was not produced to sell. We donated copies to the incumbent pastor of the church, to two genealogists in the Martinson family, to local libraries near the church, and to other libraries having an interest in Scandinavian immigrants.

TRAVELLERS AND TRAIL BLAZERS WHO OPENED UP ILLINOIS SIXTH DIVISION AREA 150 YEARS AGO

According to Land Office map of April 1818 way of West Frankfort. All roads led to Shawneetown because of the salt workings, the chief industry of early Illinois.

The Great Western Mail Route from Illinoistown, now East St. Louis, to Washington, D.C. by way of Vincennes was a very popular route established as early as 1800 and follows the present U.S. Route 50. Along these roads were found accommodations for the traveller. One such building nine miles east of Salem with a sign "Built in 1818" was a "Halfway House", about halfway between Vincennes and St. Louis.

In 1806 President Jefferson authorized the building of the National Road or the Cumberland Road from Cumberland, Maryland through Illinoistown, the present East St. Louis. Originally planned to connect the Cumberland with the Pacific Ocean, this road which might be called one of the greatest roads of the United States was terminated at Vandalia and is marked by a Madonna of the Trail statue.

The Shawneetown-Vincennes Trail became an important mail route in 1806 and developed into a stage coach route with regularly scheduled trips. Another trail with self explanatory name was the Kaskaskia-Detroit Trace, starting at Kaskaskia going northeasterly through Tilden and on north.

The first state built road began on March 24, 1819 when a commission was appointed to "Mark and view a road from Colconda to Brownsville and thence to Kaskaskia". Brownsville is the present city of Murphysboro.

One of the obstacles along the trails were the streams and rivers. To cross these, the early travellers had to ford, build a raft, ferry, or bridge. East of Kaskaskia, a road landmark can be seen. Here stands a covered bridge used in crossing the Mary's River. Built of large oak timbers with fine construction, the bridge one hundred feet long, twenty feet high, and twenty feet wide was opened to traffic in 1854.

The early explorers of the area portrayed came first by way of the Mississippi, Ohio and Wabash Rivers settling along the banks and then developing overland roads. Probably the oldest was a road known as the Old Military Road established about 1725 between the early settlements of Fort Kaskaskia, Fort Chartres, and Cahokia now known as Illinois Route 3.

George Rogers Clark led his men from Fort Massac on the Ohio River to Kaskaskia in 1778, carving a trail through the unknown Illinois Country. The following year, Clark opened a trail from Kaskaskia to Vincennes, Indiana. In the unknown territory, who made the paths? Could it have been the way of many Indian tribes or the way of the wild animals in search of water, food, or salt?

"Little Egypt" as the southern part of Illinois is known was "the Mother of the State of Illinois" and names of many towns remind us of the Old World. Goshen, the rich country where the Israelites lived while in Egypt, was the name of an area near Edwardsville and the trail from Shawneetown to this rich territory was known as the Goshen Trail. Established around 1790, the trail ran through the area of the salt licks, Mt. Vernon, Carlyle, Shiloh and on to Goshen.

Shawneetown was a favorite landing place for migrants from the east who travelled down the Ohio River with plans of settling in Illinois. From the time wild animals made trails to lick the salty earth, roads were necessary to connect the salt licks with the world. "The Saline Road" was an important thoroughfare connecting Shawneetown with Kaskaskia by

We hope you have been able to come to the library and read through some of the many newsletters and quarterlys that we receive during the year. Much information can be found in these publications, i.e., addresses of all sorts for "where to write", ancestor charts from all around the country, maps and charts, and query columns, etc. Below is a list of publications found in our library.

From the genealogical societies of

Hayward, California	Stanislaus County, California	Chicago, Ill.
Santa Clara, "	North Central Kansas	Williams Family
Tuolumne County, "	Solano County, California	Richardson Family
Pocahontas Trails	East Bay (Oakland), "	Pangborn Family
Niagra, New York	East Cuyahoha Co., Ohio	Santa Clara Co. CA
Hamilton County, Ohio	American-Portuguese Gen. Soc.

PERHAPS you have wondered about the disposition of the Jared Matthews Bible found at a garage sale by Rose WADE last year. The decision was made to place a notice in the GENEALOGICAL Helper and the response was as follows;

surname	querys
BRACKET	4	The loose papers in the Bible included an obituary for Jared Matthews showing that he came from Greene County, New York. Among the requests for the Bible we received a letter from Barbara BECHTOLDT BARTLEY, a member of the Greene County Historical Society, with an offer to pay shipping and purchase costs. She would then donate the Bible to the Greene County Historical Society. The Bible is now at the Vedder Memorial Library c/o Greene County Historical Society Coxsackie, New York 12051
