LIVERMORE-AMADOR GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

Membership in LAGS is open to any individual, library, or society. Our fiscal year is 1 September to 31 August. Membership includes a subscription to the quarterly Roots Tracer and reduced prices on other publications.

Meetings are on the 2nd Tuesday, monthly, at Congregation Beth Emek, 1866 College Avenue, Livermore.

Our library is located in the Pleasanton Library building, 400 Old Bernal Avenue, Pleasanton.

The Livermore-Amador Genealogical Society is exempt from Federal Income Tax under Section 501 (c) (3) (literary and educational) of the Internal Revenue Code and California Taxation Code 237020.

The Roots Tracer is a quarterly publication with articles of interest to the genealogist.

Mumbers are encouraged to submit their "Profiles" as well as articles of general interest. Querys are free to members, $1 to non-members.

The deadline for each quarterly is the 15th of September, December, March, and June. Send to:
Roots Tracer

P.O. Box 901

Livermorte, CA 94551-0901

Any book presented to the society will be reviewed in the quarterly along with the purchase price and address of the publisher. Any such book will become the property of the LAGS library.

Dear Members and Friends of L-AGS:

As we begin a new year we feel that many thanks are due for the help we have received in getting the Tracer out to our subscribers. The many contributors, the collators, the staplers, the many stamplickings, and a special thank you to Virginia who proof-reads, types, prints, and sees that the mailing lists are in order. It takes all of the above so you can read our quarterly.

The policy of "buyer beware" also applies to genealogical advertisers. Be sure of the source before you send away your hopes and dollars.

Along with all the birth, marriages and death records available at the Family History Library, did you know that you can ask for advice on how to try to solve a problem? Whe have been helped greatly by the FHL researchers and the source was not even in Salt Lake City.

A big welcome to our new members and many thanks for the Profiles sent to us.

Dixie

Dear Members:

We have just completed one exciting year for all of us and now we are headed into an equally exciting 1991-92.

Several members have shared at our meetings wonderful news of new family information, finding family members and great reunions during the past months. If some of these apply to you or your family please call me because we need to $\underline{\text{share}}$ these things with members who are unable to come to our meetings.

A big success the past few months is our "telephone tree". All our members have been grateful for the reminder of the meetings and informattion on our speakers.

All the officers want to hear from you, the members, for ideas to better serve our LAGS members. Let's make it better for all of us.

The best of things to all of you,

Welcome to new members

Harry, Jr. and Sharon HOWE

The subject of this sketch is the compiler's maternal grandmother. Margaret Reilly was born 1 May 1853 presumably in County Cavan, Ireland. She was the daughter of Terrance Reilly and Margaret Glyesse.

On 15 June 1875, Margaret was married to Daniel Henry Fallon in St. Raymond's church, Dublin, Alameda county, California. According to her bible, the maid of honor was Mary Reilly, a sister. Daniel and Margaret resided for a while in Dublin where he was engaged in the butchering business. Subsequently they moved to Pleasanton, California.

They lived in a home at the corner of Second and Angela Streets. The accompanying photograph shows Margaret seated in a chair on the porch of the home and it appears that her daughter, Gertrude, is standing behind her.

Margaret gave birth to six children: Emily Josephine, born 4 May 1876 and died 25 July 1905; Thomas Francis, born 31 March 1878 and died 11 March 1924; Mary Ellen (Mylin), born 21 January 1880 and died 22 July 1900; Margaret, born 31 March 1882 and died October 1884 (she is buried along side her paternal grandparents in St. Raymond's cemetery Dublin, California); August Henry, born 5 April 1889 and died and, Gertrude, born 5 November 1893 and died 16 November 1960.

Margaret died 23 October 1934. An obituary appearing in the LIVER-MORE HERALD, page 1, dated 26 October 1934 reads as follows:

MRS. MARGARET FALLON PASSED TUESDAY

Another Livermore Valley pioneer answered the final call Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Margaret Fallon died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Foxworthy, where she had been seriously ill for the preceding week.

Funeral services were held from St. Michael's Church here yesterday (Thursday) morning, with Rev. E. M. Looney, pastor of the church, officiating. Interment followed at the Catholic Cemetery at Pleasanton.

A native of Ireland, aged 81 years Mrs. Fallon had resided near Pleasanton for the past seventy-two years. She is survived by a son, August Fallon, and a daughter, Mrs. Wm. Foxworthy, both of Livermore.

Margaret's Certificate of Death (No. 34-052160), State of California, gives her date of birth as 1 May 1853. Her birthplace only indicates Ireland. Her father's name is given as Terrance Riley (sic) and his country of birth, Ireland. The maiden name of her mother is given as Margaret Glyesse and country of birth, Ireland. Margaret's length of residence in California is given as 72 years. Thus she came to California when she was nine years of age.

The compiler obtained a copy of the Certificate of Death (No. 33-007579) for Margaret's sister, Catherine R. Martin. This certificate indicates that the father of Catherine was John Riley whose birthplace was Ireland and the maiden name of the mother was unknown. Catherine was born 25 August 1847 in Ireland. No county of birth is given. She died 5 February 1933.

In a letter from a granddaughter of Catherine's, dated 29 January 1981, she states that "... We were always told that Margaret & Catherine came to America as young girls (I believe their parents were dead) 'Around the Horn' to live with an aunt in Irvington close to Mission San Jose. They were born in Co. Cavan. . . ."

In a follow-up letter dated 4 November 1981, the granddaughter wrote "... I wish to add one item to your mention of your grandfather Fallon. He was mainly a speculator in land... There was a slight 'feeling', as my grandmother used the word, between herself & your grandmother. The reason being (how silly) their outlook on the better things of life!!! My grandmother was very thrifty - but not stingy. Your's loved beautiful things such as furniture... I believe this Mary married a Donohue in San Francisco. If I am correct the only one left from her father's family (he was Frank Donohue & would be Mary's son) is Marie Donohue Keller... Patterson, Calif..."

An obituary for Catherine Reilly Martin appeared in the 17 February 1933 edition of the LIVERMORE HERALD. In it, mention is made that she was the sister of Mrs. Margaret Fallon of Livermore.

The compiler attempted to contact Mrs. Marie Donohue Keller in Patterson, California. Letters were not answered. However, Mr. Herbert Hagemann of the Amador-Livermore Valley Historical Society, did indicate that Mrs. Keller had died in 1987.

With this information, the compiler wrote to the editor of THE MO-DESTO BEE (California). On 21 Sept. 1988, the compiler was furnished the following information:

". . . . Marie D. Keller, 84, of Modesto, died 10/28/88 in Modesto at Doctors Medical Center. She lived in Patterson from 1970 until moving to Modesto recently. She was born in Pleasanton, (Alameda County) CA. Survivors include a son, Tom Keller of Modesto, plus grandchildren. . . . "

A Certificate of Death (No. 87-166248) was obtained from the State of California, Department of Health Services, in Sacramento. Marie died 28 October 1987, not 1988 as indicated in the above. Marie was born 3 February 1903 in Pleasanton and was the daughter of Francis Donohue and Ella Green.

The compiler was able to make contact with Mrs. Keller's son, Thomas, who advised that "... My grandfather's name was Frank Donohue... He married Ella Green and had three children, Catherine, Frank Jr., and Marie who was my mother... Frank Donohue died in 1925 and Ella his wife died in 1953. Both are buried in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Hayward, Calif...."

Currently the compiler is awaiting a copy of the Certificate of Death for Francis Donohue which might provide additional information regarding Mary Reilly, a sister of Margaret.

In a news letter, 'THE HERITAGE ECHO' published by the Dublin Historical Preservation Association (Vol. 2 - 1987) there is a news clipping from "Around the Valley" in the Livermore Guild 23 December 1899 which in part reads: 'Dublin. Miss Ella Green and Frank Donahue (sic) were married in San Francisco Monday. . . ."

At the time of her bushand's death in 1928, Grandma Fallon was living on the ranch outside Livermore and described in the sketch pertaining to Daniel. Her son, August, lived with her and took care of the chores associated with raising sheep, chickens, etc. August (Uncle Gus) had never married.

As a youngster, the compiler recalls visiting Grandma at the ranch which was located a few miles from our home. The house was situated a couple hundred feet in from the road - Alden Lane. There was a windmill atop a water storage tank from which water was piped into the house. That was about the extent of the in-door plumbing. There was a "two-hole" out-house located nearby. Also, there was a large barn near the entrance to the ranch. Nothing remains of the home and barn. The property remains undeveloped as of June 1987 when the compiler had his daughter drive by during a visit to California. It is believed that the property may be owned by the California Rock and Gravel Company or its successor.

On more than one occasion the compiler spent a couple days and nights visiting with Grandma. As an inducement to visit, she would promise to prepare a beef roast and from the 'drippings' make, what became known as, 'red gravy', i.e., add a can of tomatoe sauce to the basic gravy. To this day 'red gravy' is a favorite not only of the compiler but his children as well.

Grandma Fallon was always a very kind and considerate woman to us children. We were her only grandchildren. Her son, Thomas, had married but did not have any children. On one visit to Grandma's, she had endeavored to find some candy for me. It turned out that the candy was "Ex-Lax". No further description of the consequences of this event need be furnished!!!

A foot note should be added. Grandma had a nice stand in each of the bedrooms upon which were a pitcher of water, a large porcelain basin and under the bed a large 'potty''. The latter was to be used basically during inclement weather when a trip to the out-house would be sorta inconvenient to say the least.

Grandma always dressed the "old-fashioned" way. In other words, she wore dresses that were ankle length, high collar, and sleeves that buttoned at the wrists. Additionally, her shoes were high buttoned ones. The accompanying photograph shows Margaret with her husband and her first grandchild - Thomas Foxworthy. The other photograph is believed to of Thomas and his sister, Margaret, taken at a park in Livermore.

The compiler has researched the 1870 Federal Census for California and in particular the Irvington district of Alameda county. No household could be found in which the Reilly sisters are listed. The Census included all of Alameda county except Oakland which was the county seat.

A school teacher by the name of Miss Florence Reidy lived with the Fallons in Pleasanton. Miss Reidy taught the compiler's mother in elementary school. In 1925, Miss Reidy was in Rome, Italy and obtained a Papal Blessing from Pope Pius XI for Mrs. Daniel Fallon and family. It is dated 16 Oct. 1925. The Blessing reads in part: "... at the hour of death, ... being truly sorry for their sins, even though unable to confess them and to receive the holy Viaticum, they shall at least invoke with their lips or heart the Holy Name of Jesus. . . ." The Papal seal is affixed thereto and was signed but the compiler cannot decipher the signature.

This concludes the sketch of Margaret Reilly. The compiler is hopeful that at some future date to ascertain the indentity of the parents of Margaret.

Seven new books in the LAGS Library will be described this quarter. All are valuable, some are outstanding.

When you go to the LAGS Library, don't fail to check out the rapidly expanding genealogy collection of the Pleasanton Library, in the same building but on separate shelves.

Chronicles of the Scotch-Irish Settlement in Virginia. 1989 reprint. By Lyman Chalkley. Published by Genealogical Publishing Co., Baltimore. 3 volumes, 1998 pages total. 6x9 inches, hard cover, indexed. $150.00.

When the LAGS board of directors voted to establish a memorial to honor Charles Moore, late husband of our Ex-President Virginia Moore, Virginia chose this set of books to be purchased as the memorial. Carrie Alexander also contributed toward the purchase. The choice was apt. These books, bulging with over 44,000 names of American pioneers, are likely to be of interest to a large fraction of our members.

The Great Valley of Virginia, the land beyond the Blue Ridge Mountains, was the scene of a classic chapter in the peopling of America. Waves of land-hungry immigrants, mostly Scotch-Irish in the beginning, pushed down the valley from the north, eventually spilling over the mountain gaps into Kentucky and beyond. It was a wild frontier, a long ways in distance and spirit from the King's government on the coast. Local government was first organized in 1745, when the county of Augusta was formed. It included everything west of the Blue Ridge "without limit of extent," even to the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, between Carolina on the south and existing counties on the north. It even included Pittsburgh and parts of western Pennsylvania.

What happened in that region at that time had a deep impact on the character of America after the Revolution. A disproportionate fraction of our presidents and military leaders had their roots there. In later years, these pioneers and their log cabins became powerful symbols of American patriotism.

About 1900, Judge Lyman Chalkley set out to abstract the original court records of Augusta County, Virginia, from 1745 to 1800. His manuscript was bought by the DAR in 1905 and first published in 1912. The work has proved so popular among genealogists that it has been reprinted five times since 1965 by Genealogical Publishing Company.

Judge Chalkley's abstracts always include the personal names mentioned in the record, and sometimes nothing else. For example, on page 163 of volume 1, we find, for March 28, 1771:

(197) James Dunn, to be bound to Thomas Smith, who is to teach him trade of carpenter and joiner.

(204) Henry Picket's death abates suit.

If I were interested in any of these names, I would presumably want to search out the original records for further details.

There is no explanation in the book about why the records between 197 and 204 were not abstracted.

Fortunately, Judge Chalkley abstracted many of the records in greater detail. He seems to have had one eye on documenting genealogy and the other on preserving colorful vignettes of local history. In a disputed property line case in May 1768, for example, the surveyor admitted that he was "damned drunk, and the rest concerned were in the same condition." Many cases concern the title to land that was first settled (often squatted on) generations previously. The depositions in these cases are fascinating minihistories, detailing the miseries of frontier life, the early deaths, the Indian depredations, the frequent abandonment of a homeplace for greener pastures. Kinships were always important in these cases, so genealogies are carefully recorded.

Volume 3 of these chronicles consists entirely of wills and deeds. The property being conveyed sometimes included slaves, but not nearly so often as it would have in the eastern parts of the state.

Browsing in these books is enjoyable. A few of the entries that caught my eye: "... On 15th July, 1763, Jane and deponent (John Ewing) were taken prisoner by Indians and carried away. They were kept in the same nation, but not together, except on their journey to Pittsburg, where they were liberated 14th May, 1765. John Ewing was 16 years old when he was taken prisoner..." (v.2, p.93); "... In 1753 encouragements were held out by the Royal Government to settlers on western waters. Washington, on his return from Venango in December, 1753, or January, 1754, met many families crossing the Alleghenies. ...' v.2, p.168); The two Cravens boys went alternately [to school] so as to make one between scholar them..." (v.2,p.218); "... Commissioners appointed to inspect the beer sold at every Court, and if it appear that the same is not at least one month old, well hop'd, then they presume not to ask more than one penny a quart for it...." (v.1, p.43); "... November 9, 1763. Court of Over and Terminer for trial of Tom, slave, for murder of John Harrison by shooting in back. Confessed: judgt. guilty, and that he be hanged by neck on Saturday, 19th, inst., and his head be severed and affixed on a pole on the top of the hill that leads from this Court House to Edward Tarr's. Memo — Tom valued at __50...." (v.1, p.110).

For genealogy, as well as for history in the raw, Chronicles of the Scotch-Irish Settlement in Virginia is an important addition to our library.

Going to Salt Lake City to Do Family History Research. 1989. By J. Carlyle Parker. Published by Marietta Publishing Co., Turlock, California.84+xx pages, 6x9 inches, soft cover, indexed, illustrated. Purchased by LAGS.

This is a valuable little book for

would-be hajjis to the Mecca of genealogy, the LDS Family History Library in Salt Lake City. The author is a well-known genealogical writer, professional librarian, founder and volunteer director of the Modesto LDS Family History Center, and experienced director of group genealogical trips to Salt Lake City and Washington, DC.

For a trip to Salt Lake City, preparing is half the secret of success. Mr. Carlyle gives us a whole set of check lists for different circumstances, depending on whether or not we can do our preparation at a local Family History Center, or at a community library, or have to do it at home or by mail, and whether we have a few hours to prepare, or can spend three months at it.

The second part of the book gives a good number of tips for maximizing the efficiency and success of the actual visit. The final chapter is on dining, lodging, getting around and parking in Salt Lake City.

The Handybook for Genealogists, Eighth Edition. 1991. Published by The Everton Publishers. Logan, Utah. 326 pages of text plus 56 pages of maps in color, 8.5x11 inches, hard cover. List $29.95. Also contains a removable 20x30inch map of the counties of the US. list $7.95. Awarded to LAGS for sponsoring an Everton Workshop in 1990.

This truly is the most basic book in any genealogist's collection. The publishers estimate that since the first edition appeared in 1947, over 750,000 have been sold.

The heart of the book, the part that every genealogist is sure to need sooner or later, is a list of the counties in each state, with the following information for each: map location, date created, parent county or territory, address and telephone number of the main offices of the county, and a summary of which office has which records, for what dates.

For each state, there is also a short history, a list of genealogical archives, libraries and societies (LAGS is listed!) and a bibliography of genealogical sources. A master index to all US counties appears at the end.

New in this edition is an 11-page section of text on migration trails, plus 8 pages of multicolor maps. Each state is then presented in a multicolor map on a separate page, and, finally, the territorial growth of the United States is illustrated in a sequence of nine maps.

A Survey of American Church Records, Fourth Edition. 1978. By E. Kay Kirkham. Published by Everton Publishers, Logan, Utah. 344+xii pages, 8 1/2x11 inches, soft cover. $26.00. Purchased by LAGS.

Mr. Kirkham argues in the introduction that church records are an underused but valuable source of genealogical information. His argument is plausible — European immigrants came from a society in which it was the church, not government, that kept vital records, and it was the church, in this country, that actually officiated at the important rites of life. Church records were often fuller and better kept than civil records.

The problem with church records is: Where are they now? Mr. Kirkham's classic book is an attempt to answer this question. His list is surely only a drop in the font compared to what is actually available somewhere, but it is a start. Even with my very limited experience with church records, I note that he has overlooked the extensive American Lutheran Church archives in Dubuque, Iowa. In fact, he does not even mention the important ALC in his list of Lutheran synods.

Church records are indeed important. Harriet and I found that to be true in studying her pioneer family in Minnesota — we ended up transcribing, translating and publishing the records of the local Norwegian Lutheran church. It pays to look for church records, and it would pay to start with Mr. Kirkham's book. But it would be wise not to stop there.

Eighty-six Ancestral Charts. 1983. Published by the Willamette Valley [Oregon] Genealogical Society. 142 pages, 8.5x11 inches, soft cover, indexed. Donated to the LAGS Library by Shirley Terry.

Over 1232 different surnames are indexed in this collection of pedigree charts and Ahnentafeln published by the Willamette Valley GS. It is fast, easy and worthwhile to check your list of surnames of interest with this list next time you visit the LAGS Library.

New Books to Pleasanton Library of interest to genealogists

Coming to America: a history of immigration and ethnicity in American life. Daniela: Roger. This is unusual; it's both scholarly and enjoyable to read. He discusses the varied immigration from the English in colonial times (and a few words about the Vikings) through the European groups and on through the more recent Asians and Latin Americans. Why did they immigrate? Faith. Empire and Economics. Incidentally, he answered my question about why some of my people suddenly appeared in Rhode Island about 1688: they were Welsh Baptists, which also explains all the Baptist churches near Keene. New Hampshire, where they went a hundred years later.

New England Marriages: Prior to 1700. Torrey, Clarence Almon. Picture a genealogist sitting for years in the New England Historic Genealogy Society Library in Boston, carefully culling and noting the listings of 37,000 couples who resided in New England during its first eight decades. Said to be the "major successor to James Savage's Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England." Fully indexed, all dates and residences and other spouses included. 70% of maiden names are listed and indexed too. Find this in Pleasanton's reference section in R929.374.

Kinship: it's all relative. Arnold, Jackie Smith. R306.85. In a clear and friendly style, she shows kinds of marriages and family groups, degrees of lineal and collateral relationship. This answers the question of who is a second cousin, and who is a first cousin once removed.

Ancestors of American Presidents. Roberts, Gary Boyd. This has ancestor tables, lines of royal descent for presidents, kinships between presidents and presidents, and presidents and royals. Completely indexed.

A guide to pre-federal records in the National Archives. Wehmann. R973/016. This includes explanations of the Archives records for military and pension records. The categories of papers about early land grants are discussed also, and those contemplating a visit to the Archives would be well advised to begin here.

How to locate anyone who is or has been in the military: Armed Forces Locator Directory, a guide to locating present, former and retired members of the Armed Forces, Reserves and National Guard. Johnson, Richard S., Lt. Col. R355,00257. Practical instructions for finding people and reunions from World War II on. Addresses for service organizations, veterans and other military organizations, and the names for all the APO and FPC number todes. It even has a list by state of all the uniformed service facilities (all kinds of bases) in the US.
